

Use everyday chance language meaningfully

We can talk about what might happen, what is certain, and what is unlikely.

★ Today I am learning to use everyday chance language to describe events.

Step 1

Kindergarten /
Early Elementary

1. Look and talk.

Look at each picture. Tick the chance word that best describes what might happen.

Certain

It will definitely happen.

Likely

It will probably happen.

Unlikely

It will probably not happen.

Impossible

It cannot happen.

- a)  The sun will come up tomorrow. ☐ ☐ ☐ ☐
- b)  It will snow at the beach today. ☐ ☐ ☐ ☐
- c)  I will find a unicorn in my lunchbox. ☐ ☐ ☐ ☐
- d)  I will eat my lunch at school today. ☐ ☐ ☐ ☐

2. Circle and write.

Look at the pictures. Circle the chance word that best describes each one.

- a) You roll a number cube.

certain likely unlikely impossible

Write a reason.

- b) You pick a red apple from this bowl.

certain likely unlikely impossible

Write a reason.

- c) You get rainy weather on a sunny day.

certain likely unlikely impossible

Write a reason.

3. Read each situation.

Draw a happy face 😊 if it is likely or certain.
Draw a worried face 😞 if it is unlikely or impossible.

- a) You will have breakfast tomorrow morning. ☐
- b) A fish will climb a tree. ☐
- c) You will forget your name. ☐
- d) It will rain sometime this week. ☐

4. Which is more likely?

Look at each pair. Circle what is more likely to happen.

- a)  or  b)  or
- c)  or  d)  or

5. Your turn!

- a) Write or draw something that is:

- certain _____
- likely _____
- unlikely _____
- impossible _____

- b) Draw a picture of a chance event from your day.
Then write a sentence using a chance word.

Example

It is likely to rain after school.
